DIES OF APOPLEXY
AT SAN ANDREAS
IN CALAVERAS

BROTHER OF MRS. H. R. COOKE
STRICKEN THIS MORNING
AT HIS HOME.

Judge Arthur I. McSorley, superior judge of Calaveras county, California, died of apoplexy this morning at his home in San Andreas, the county seat where he resided. He was only 41 years of age and had been on the bench for the past sixteen years. He was highly esteemed as a man and a jurist and his decisions were seldom disputed or reversed.

The news was received by the mother who was visiting her daughter, Mrs. H. R. Cooke, just in time to enable both ladies to catch the train for the north. The cruel fact was kept from the mother who has been a guest in Tonopah for the past three weeks. Attorney H. R. Cooke accompanied his wife and her mother on their sad mission.

ESCAPED HORSE
THIEF IS CAUGHT
BY TWO HUNTERS

JIM ROSS, WHO LEFT PRISON,
RECAPTURED IN IDAHO AFTER ANOTHER THEFT.

Horse stealing, which sent Jim Ross of Elko county to the state prison a few months ago, caused his return after his escape from the prison farm May 4, according to Captain J. P. Donnelly of the state police, who was in Reno today with the escaped convict, having brought him down from Shoshone, Idaho.

Sheriff Bliss of Gooding, Idaho, was responsible for the recapture of Ross. He identified him from photographs sent out by the state police and sent a photograph taken by himself to Carson for identification.

Ross, according to Sheriff Bliss, not only stole a horse in Idaho, but he held up the constable who arrested him for the deed and escaped into the mountains. The sheriff and posse trailed him into the hills and telephoned ahead to a ranger's camp, from which three men in the neighborhood hunting bear were notified. They brought the escaped convict to time with their bear hunting rifles. It is said that he tried to wheel his horse and escape even after they had covered him with their guns.

Ross' escape from the prison farm in May caused a little excitement. He was trailed to a point where he had apparently entered a buggy and driven off. His sentence was 1 to 14 years, and his recapture probably means it will be nearer 14 years than one.

Ross was seen in the Reno jail this morning, but said little except that he had been at Shoshone, Idaho. He also claimed that he walked away when he escaped from the farm near Carson City, and that he had been arrested for a minor offense in Idaho, where he claimed to have been held 10 days before being recognized.
